

TOP 5 PHISHING SCAMS TO AVOID IN YOUR NORTHEASTERN UNIVERSITY INBOX

See security.its.northeastern.edu/data-privacy-week/ for more information.

Fake account alerts

- Scammers (posing as NU leadership) claim to hack your account.
- Tip: Verify the sender by logging in through the official portal. Use DUO multi-factor authenticator to confirm your identity.

Urgent payment requests

- Fraudulent emails pressure you to pay fake invoices for tuition or services.
- Tip: Confirm payment claims with Student Financial Services using official contact details.

File sharing attempts

- Attackers steal your data when you click the file-sharing link.
- Tip: Verify file requests directly with the sender through official channels.

Fake shipping notifications

- Scammers mimic delivery services, claiming package issues and urging you to click a link.
- Tip: Check with Northeastern mail services or the mailroom directly.

Parcel mule scams (fake job offers)

- Scammers send fake checks, claim they overpaid, and ask for money back. When the check bounces, victims lose the money they sent.
- Tip: Avoid cashing checks or sending money for unfamiliar jobs. Verify offers through official Northeastern job portals.

Stay safe tips

- Do not authenticate DUO notifications that are unfamiliar to you.
- Always verify the sender's email address.
- Mouse over any links to see if it looks suspicious.
- Report phishing attempts to Northeastern IT Services immediately.
